

GAMMA is the First Salt Lamp Manufacturer Granted Canadian Standards Association Safety Approval

Most Americans know to look for the UL (Underwriters Laboratories) mark when they are shopping for electrical products. Similarly, residents of Canada look for the CSA (Canadian Standards Association) mark for assurance that they are buying a tested and approved product. GAMMA Salt Cristals Ltd. is the first salt lamp manufacturer to be issued CSA certification.

Toronto, ON (PRWEB) August 23, 2006 -- With safety in mind, most Americans know to look for the UL (Underwriters Laboratories) mark while shopping for electrical products. Similarly, residents of Canada trust the CSA (Canadian Standards Association) mark for assurance that they are buying a safety tested and approved product. GAMMA Salt Cristals Ltd. is the first manufacturer of salt crystal lamps to be issued certification by the Canadian Standards Association.

GAMMA salt lamps have been issued a CSA C & US certificate. The "C" and "US" indicators adjacent to the CSA Mark signify that our salt lamps have been tested to the applicable CSA and American National Standards Institute (ANSI) and Underwriters Laboratories (UL) Standards, for use in Canada and the U.S. respectively.

More information on our Certification and the CSA itself can be found at:

GAMMA Salt Cristals Ltd is a leading manufacturer and seller of salt crystal products mined from the Himalayan Mountains in Pakistan. Our main product is a variety of salt lamp styles, including natural, spheres, pyramids, diffusers and more. These beautiful and colorful lamps are ideal for Feng Shui and emit negative ions when turned on, which naturally cleans the air without generating ozone as all man-made ionizers do. We also offer natural bath salts, pure consumption salt containing the same 84 trace minerals and elements contained in the human body, as well as salt candles, deodorant bars and other natural salt products at retail and wholesale in the US and Canada.
